

Loxahatchee River Watershed Status Water Conditions – “Dry” Season 2015-2016

Water managers at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the South Florida Water Management District are working hard to manage enormous volumes of water resulting from the record setting rainfall during this winters “dry” season. At our meeting we will discuss and clarify some of the issues and challenges associated with this situation.

Flood control releases through the S-80 water control structure into the St. Lucie River.